14 Wing Hosts Take Your Kid to Work Day

By: 2nd Lieutenant Richard Seidel

On November 3, 2010 over 45 local grade nine students accompanied their parents or hosts to their place of work during this year's "Take Your Kids to Work Day". This national event aims at emphasizing the importance of staying in school and allows students the opportunity to explore future career possibilities.

During the event, students started the morning off by accompanying their parents to their place of work where they were exposed to the daily work environment. This allowed the students to acquire knowledge about and gain appreciation for the hard work put forth by their parent on a day-to-day basis.

After visiting individual workplaces, students along with their parents gathered for tours of static displays hosted by both 405 and 413 Squadrons. 405 Squadron provided a display of a CP-140 Aurora aircraft in which students could board the aircraft and speak with the crew about their specific responsibilities. 413 Squadron supplied both an interactive tour of the CH-149 Cormorant helicopter as well as an in-depth presentation of the SAR profession. These displays allowed students to see first-hand the variety of career possibilities offered by the Canadian Forces.

Many thanks go out to the parents and hosts who participated in this event making it such a success as well as the members of 405 and 413 Squadrons who provided the impressive displays.

Winter: Are You Prepared?

Submitted by: Captain Dave Nelson, A3 Readiness and Evaluation

By definition, emergencies happen when we don't expect them, and often when families are not together. If phones don't work, or some neighbourhoods aren't accessible, what will you do?

(Nov 2004) "Officials with Nova Scotia Power Inc estimate as many as 100,000 homes and businesses lost electricity after brisk winds and up to 45 centimetres of heavy snow and freezing rain brought down six major transmission towers."

(Nov 2008) "As many as 1,500 vehicles were stranded at the Cobequid Pass in northern Nova Scotia for up to 14 hours due to blizzard conditions."

(Dec 2008) "Nova Scotia Power spokeswoman said the province still faced more than 40,000 outages, half of which were in and around Halifax. She said 26,000 more homes had their power restored overnight, but the heavy winds - gusts hit hurricane levels of 120 km/h in Shelburne County - made it unsafe for crews to fix power lines around the province."

(Jan 2009) "The Atlantic provinces were in a Blizzard for New Year's Day, with 49 cm recorded in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island and 25 cm in Halifax, Nova Scotia. Blizzard warnings and storm surge warnings were posted as winds were sustained more than 60-80 km (40-50 mi), out of the North."

(Nov 2010) "Two areas of southwest Nova Scotia remain under a local state of emergency after heavy rains over the weekend caused flooding, evacuations and road and bridge closures."

As another winter approaches, like most of you, I am doing things around the house to prepare. You know - the normal stuff involved in winterization around your home and property. This article is meant to address the other stuff - the stuff that will assist in you, and your family, staying safe and relatively comfortable in the event of extreme weather events. For members of the Defence Team this is particularly important, as during times of crisis we are more than ever liable to be called upon to assist others and therefore must ensure our families are prepared and self-sufficient. In this article I would like to stress two vulnerabilities, and perhaps the most important ones, electrical and transportation infrastructure. As the premise for the discussion that follows, I'm going to use the 72 hour self-sufficiency scenario as promoted by various emergency preparedness organizations in Canada.

Electricity

Having been posted to remote locations for many years in the CF, and "survived" the '98 Ice Storm and '03 black out in eastern Ontario, the prolonged loss of electricity is now little more than an inconvenience for me and my family. However, if you're not prepared to live for a few days without electrical power - its absence can have a significant impact on your life. Consider this; sit down in your kitchen and think about how you use electrical energy in your home. Does it provide your heat? If this is the case, how long are you able/willing to do without? The same goes for your water supply and other individual family requirements such as possibly medical equipment, etc.

Power outages in Nova Scotia are a fact of life during inclement weather and this will not likely change in the near term. Although official statistics are not readily available, past experience indicates that we should expect at least one to two prolonged outages per year of at least one hour or more in duration. In some regions of this province outages in excess of 12 hours are not rare occurrences.

There are many lists and publications out there providing guidance for coping for 72 hrs plus without electricity, but they are generally all guidelines only, and are very situation dependant. For each and every one of us there are likely differing requirements depending upon your dwelling and family situation. If you don't believe that you are prepared to be self-sufficient for at least 72 hours and would like to be, I would suggest you start by asking yourself the following questions;

- how will my house be heated?
- do I have a backup water supply?
- am I prepared with at least minimal back-up lighting?
- do I have some method of receiving public advisories (i.e. radio)?
- does my household normally hold enough non-perishable, ready-to-consume foodstuffs to meet emergency requirements?
- do I need to have some "ready cash" in case of non-availability of ATMs/Debit machines?
- does anyone in my household require a backup supply of prescription medications or use medical devices which use electricity?
- should I make arrangements for my family to vacate our residence and sit out any emergency event with friends or relatives?

While the above questions, and their answers, will not likely provide you with the "total solution", they will certainly provide a crucial starting point on the road to being more prepared for emergency events. With the key aim being an attempt to remain self-sufficient until the impacting situation returns to normalcy.

While many articles about preparedness go to great lengths to provide guidance on what to do, few caution against what not to do. First, and foremost, there is likely a point for all of us where we will no longer be able to be self-sufficient and will have to have outside assistance. One of the most important recommendations I can provide here is - know when you and your family have had enough and need assistance, and don't be hesitant to ask for help. Call your immediate supervisor or someone in your chain-of-command and explain your situation and what you need. I cannot overemphasize the importance of taking positive steps to ensure that your family gets the assistance they need, as it increases our ability as a military formation to remain fully mission capable and thus part of the solution and not a net contributor to the problem.

On the subject of emergency equipment and back-ups, it is important to stress that you do only what you are comfortable/confident with and remain safe. Don't use the old wood stove that hasn't be maintained or inspected in years! As a general rule I would recommend not to utilize any combustible fuel appliance (lamps, stoves, heaters, etc) inside your house unless you are very comfortable with their usage and it is safe to do so. The same goes for emergency generators. Remember all the news items which inevitably appear after weather related events which illustrate the failure of people to think about their actions during an emergency, i.e.: chimney fires, carbon monoxide poisoning, fires caused by unsafe generator usage, candles, and ancillary heating devices.

Transportation

During times of weather extremes, transportation infrastructure becomes another area of concern. Those of us who have spent time across this country can attest to the varying impacts of winter weather on Canadian roads, with different regions experiencing different challenges. Here in Nova Scotia, the greatest weather impact is likely the relatively great amounts of precipitation, which can accumulate over comparatively short periods of time. This is particularly true of snowfall and freezing rain/sleet, and results in inevitable stresses upon the road clearance and maintenance regimes. Although the Nova Scotia Department of Transport and Infrastructure Renewal has a clearly articulated policy on snow removal timelines, these are of course situation dependant and therefore subject to delays.

Although there is no legislation in Nova Scotia requiring snow tires, I for one would highly recommend their use vice the less aggressive "all season" types.

However, having winter tires is no guarantee that you will not get stuck however, and therefore it is always advisable to have a backup plan in case you get stranded in quickly changing weather conditions. Again, there are many recommendations out there describing the various items that you should carry in your vehicle in the winter, but I believe that each individual has to decide what he/she needs given the peculiarities of their driving habits. For example; if you don't drive long distances in the winter and only commute in urban/built-up areas, your emergency equipment list might be somewhat different from one who regularly drives long distances or in semi-isolated areas. I would suggest at a minimum that you keep some warm clothing and boots suitable for winter walking in your vehicle. There are many ready-made vehicle emergency kits on the market today and although they are generally of varying quality and expense, any of them would be better than nothing. Another suggestion here is to have some knowledge of your vehicle, such as the location of tow points, if you have them, and how to safely utilize jumper cables on a drained battery. These suggestions are recommended as the minimum you should do to prepare for winter driving conditions and beyond them there is really no limit, it is rather a personal choice tailored to your particular potential requirements.

In the middle of some severe winter storms, as I sitting in front of a fire with a book, I am continuously amazed by the number of vehicles struggling to transit the gravel road where I live. Being the only house on a stretch of secondary road for about 5 kms, it is not uncommon for someone to pitch up at the front door in the middle of a blizzard requiring assistance on the road. So its on with the winter kit and out to warm up the tractor, all the time wondering why someone would venture out in such conditions. In one notable case which springs readily to mind, the very pressing issue was lottery tickets on a stormy Saturday, with a Honda Civic versus 50mm snow drifts.

Now I would not presume to dictate when people should or shouldn't be on the roads, and as military members there are times when we will have to push the limits a bit to get to our place of duty. This might be especially true during extreme weather events given the requirement for continued operational activity/capability.

However, consider this; when the RCMP and the Provincial Department of Transportation request that folks to stay off the roads due to weather/road conditions – there is likely a good reason. If you are not concerned about your own safety in such situations, spare a thought for those attempting to clear the roads all the while having to contend with traffic that doesn't have to be there. As well there is the matter of emergency response personnel having to potentially respond to traffic accidents during periods of degraded road conditions, thereby hazarding themselves and thus their continued response capability. The bottom line here of course is the application of commonsense – ask yourself if any trip during blizzard conditions is absolutely necessary, i.e.: is it worth potentially hazarding your safety and that of others? There will be times when the answer to this question is yes, but it is my sense that many just do not consider the question before heading out into a storm.

Now, just so you can understand where I'm coming from, I would close by saying that there is really no substitute for first hand experience. Nothing drives home a lesson learned more forcefully than suddenly finding yourself strapped into an inverted pickup truck, 25 kms south of Moncton in the middle of a November snow storm, trying to remember where you put your cell phone... Good times...

Canadian Blood Services is aiming to collect 130 units at 14 Wing, each day, and in order to collect 130 units, 220 donors have to walk in or book an appointment. Every 60 seconds, someone in Canada requires blood or a blood product, and we are currently only booked at 76% (Wed) and 67% (Thurs) of capacity, so please try and take the time to donate on either day.

Please note that if you get a flu shot, you must wait 2 days after the shot before donating blood.

This two day clinic is made possible by the generous support from McDonald's and Tim Hortons. If you are interested in more information please call Eric MacKenzie at 765-1494 ext. 5337 and please call 1-888-236-6283 if you wish to book an appointment.

UNDERSTANDING GOD'S GRACE – Padre Gord Poley

Complete these common phrases for me: *(answers at the bottom)

- 1) There's no such thing as a free _____.
- 2) No pain, no _____.
- 3) If it is going to be, then it's up to _____.

Everything about our way of life teaches us that you get what you deserve in life, that there is no free lunch. The only problem with our work ethic is that God doesn't operate on our work ethic. God is different. We operate on performance, God gives us His Promise. We grade on goodness, God gives us Grace. We measure one's merit, God gives us mercy. In other words, God has a different measuring stick than ours. It is called GRACE. And if we don't understand GRACE then we will forever have a hard time relating to God.

What is GRACE? Grace is the surprise of God's love when we expected and deserved judgement. It is the tremendous gift of pardon when we thought for sure that punishment is on its way. Let me illustrate GRACE with a story from the Old Testament (2 Samuel 9) about a young disabled boy named Mephibosheth. (Let's call him Fibby for short.)

Fibby was the grandson of King Saul. Do you remember the rivalry that Saul had with David? For years Saul tried to kill young David. But now, David had become king. And in those days, a new king usually cleaned house and annihilated any threats to the throne. It was no surprise that all of Saul's relatives ran for their lives when David became King.

A nurse was carrying young Fibby while trying to escape and she dropped him. His legs were broken and he became a paraplegic. For years Fibby lived in fear for his life that the man who was now king would retaliate against him.

One day David said, "Is there anybody still alive in Saul's household that I can show kindness (grace) to?" (2 Samuel 9:1)

Many days later, in enters Fibby under escorted guard. He thinks he is a gonner for sure. Can you imagine the fear in heart after all those years of hiding? Picture the shock on Fibby's face when King David says, "Son, I want to take you in and make you a part of my family. I want you to live in the palace with me for the rest of my life. I'm going to pay all your bills and meet all your needs. You are going to sit at my table each night and dine with me. I'm going to treat you just like one of my sons."

That's GRACE: The surprise of God's love when we expected the opposite. In the same way, God comes to you and me when we are broken, disabled in areas of our lives. He says, "I'm going to bring you into My family. I want you to sit at My table. I'm going to treat you like royalty." That's God's GRACE!

Grace is a gift. But you have to receive it. And to relate to God well, you have to understand His amazing grace. Want to know more about GRACE? Come out to your Wing Chapel at Queen of Heaven. On Sunday, 9:00 am Prot. Service. 11:00 am RC Service.

* answers: 1) Lunch, 2) Gain, 3) Me

Do you remember the story of the "Prodigal Son?" (Luke 15). The self centred rich kid basically tells his dad, "Give me my share of the inheritance NOW! I don't want to wait for you to punch out. The whole world is out there waiting for me and I want to see it." Well, like a shooting star quickly burning out, his millions vanished and the arrogant snob tried to survive like those today who collect discarded pop bottles in the alley with a worn out shopping cart. It was now a pathetic and desperate situation. For the sake of survival, the guy goes home to papa. The kid deserved a tongue lashing or at least an "I told you so!" But instead he got GRACE. His father gives him a new wardrobe, the family ring, and throws a party that would rival the Academy Awards. His dad was just so glad that his boy was home safe and sound. Grace: the surprise of God's love when we expected abandonment.

COMPRENDRE LA GRÂCE DIVINE – Padre Gord Poley

Pouvez-vous compléter ces phrases? (* voir les réponses plus bas)

- 1) Rien n'est _____ dans la vie.
- 2) On obtient rien sans _____.
- 3) Pour que cela arrive, il n'en tient qu'à _____.

Tout dans notre manière de vivre nous enseigne que nous recevons ce que nous méritons dans la vie. Rien n'est gratuit dans la vie. Le seul problème avec notre éthique de travail est que Dieu ne travaille pas de la même manière que nous. Nous donnons selon la performance, Dieu nous donne selon sa promesse. Nous évaluons avec bonté, Dieu donne avec grâce. Nous mesurons selon le mérite, Dieu donne avec miséricorde. En d'autres mots, Dieu a une règle à mesurer différente de la nôtre. Elle porte le nom de grâce. Et si nous ne comprenons pas la grâce de Dieu alors nous aurons toujours de la difficulté à établir une relation avec Dieu.

Qu'est-ce que la grâce? La grâce est la surprise de l'amour de Dieu quand nous attendons et méritons un jugement. C'est le merveilleux cadeau du pardon quand nous sommes certains que la punition approche. Laissez-moi illustrer la grâce avec une histoire de l'Ancien Testament (2 Samuel 9) au sujet d'un jeune garçon mutilé du nom de Mephibosheth (appelons-le simplement Fibby).

Fibby était le petit-fils du roi Saul. Vous rappelez-vous de la rivalité entre Saul et David? Pendant des années Saul tenta de tuer le jeune David. Mais voilà que David devint roi. Et en ce temps-là, un nouveau roi faisait habituellement maison nette et se débarrassait de toutes les menaces pour son trône. Rien de surprenant alors que tous les parents de Saul s'enfuirent pour sauver leur vie quand David devint roi.

Une nourrice transportait le jeune Fibby alors qu'elle tentait de s'enfuir et elle l'échappa. Ses jambes furent brisées et il devint paraplégique. Pendant quatre ans Fibby vécut en craignant pour sa vie que l'homme qui était maintenant roi prenne sa revanche.

Un jour David dit : « N'y a-t-il personne encore vivant dans la maison de Saul pour qui je puisse montrer bonté (grâce)? » (2 Samuel 9, 1)

Plusieurs jours plus tard, arrive Fibby sous escorte armée. Il pense qu'il est perdu. Pouvez-vous imaginer la peur dans son cœur après s'être caché toutes ces années? Voyez le choc sur la figure de Fibby quand le roi David dit : « Fils, je veux te prendre et faire de toi un membre de ma famille. Je veux que tu vives dans mon palais avec moi pour le reste de ma vie. Je vais payer pour toi et pourvoir à tous tes besoins. Tu vas t'asseoir à ma table chaque nuit et dîner avec moi. Je vais te traiter comme l'un de mes fils. » quand nous attendons le contraire. De la même manière, Dieu vient à vous et à moi quand nous sommes brisés ou impuissants dans certaines dimensions de notre vie. Il dit : « Je vais te prendre dans ma famille. Je veux que tu t'assoies à ma table. Je vais te traiter comme un roi ». C'est la Grâce de Dieu!

La Grâce est un cadeau. Mais il faut la recevoir. Et pour entrer en relation avec Dieu, il faut comprendre sa merveilleuse grâce. Vous voulez en savoir plus à propos de la grâce? Venez à la Chapelle de l'escadre, Reine-du-Ciel. Le dimanche, 9 :00 am Service prot. 11 :00 am Service CR.

*Réponses 1) gratuit 2) peine 3) moi

Vous vous souvenez de l'histoire du "Fils prodigue"? (Luc 15). Le riche aîné égoïste dit à son père: « donne-moi ma part d'héritage tout de suite! Je ne veux pas attendre que tu partes. Le monde entier est là qui m'attend et je veux le voir. » Bien, comme une étoile filante vite passée, ses millions évanouis l'arrogant essaya de survivre comme ceux qui aujourd'hui ramassent des bouteilles vides dans les fosses avec un vieux chariot d'épicerie. La situation était devenue pathétique et désespérée. Pour s'en sortir, le garçon s'en retourna chez papa. Le fils méritait bien une réprimande ou au moins un « je te l'avais bien dit ». Mais au lieu de cela, il reçoit la Grâce. Son père remplace sa garde-robe, la bague de famille, and organise une fête qui rivalise avec l'Academy Awards. Son père est si heureux que son fils rentre à la maison sain et sauf. Grâce: la surprise de l'amour de Dieu quand on attend l'abandon.

The month of November brings to mind those who died in Europe during WWI and WWII. The 14 Wing Library has several volumes of information from the Commonwealth War Graves Commission on various memorials in Europe, listings of cemeteries in Europe with more than 50 or 100 Canadian burials; there is also info on small cemeteries where only one Canadian serviceman is buried (Soufflenheim Communal Cemetery, France). Some of the listings are quite detailed with rank, name, military number, age, son of/husband of, home town, and exact location of the grave, plus maps and directions on how to get there. This information is available for research in the library during our open hours. Questions? Contact the Library at 765-1494 ext 5430.

Business of the Week ~ SUBWAY ~

Prior to buying the Subway franchise in Greenwood in 1997 when the original owner retired. In 2005 they opened a second Subway in the Town of Middleton. The couple had moved from CFB Cornwallis when Alec retired from the base. Lorrie worked 25 hours a week at Subway, six days a week and Alec worked part time at Subway and the Annapolis Mess. They decided to make an investment and bought the thriving business in 1997 when the original owner retired. In 2005 they opened a second Subway in the Town of Middleton.

Alec and Lorrie's top priority is to provide healthy, nutritious products. The store offers 6 foot party subs and party trays as well as monthly specials. This month's special is Chicken Pizziola. Subway offers a breakfast menu, wraps, flat bread, English muffins, deli's and subs.

The last Wednesday of every month Senior's are served a free meal. Two years ago they revised their menu in order to provide a meal everyone can afford. There is also a party room located in the Subway location in the Town of Middleton.

Lorrie and Alec are involved with the area schools entrepreneur programs. Students who come to Subway are taught work ethics and it also gives them the opportunity to decide if this is the type of job they would like to pursue in the future. Lorrie says some of the students who participated in the program are now employed at one of their locations. Both stores employees about 20 personnel.

Lorrie and Alec graciously support Base and Community functions from Greenwood to Bridgetown. They are very community minded business people and take pride in offering outstanding customer service.

Visit one of their two locations and enjoy a variety of choices on the menu.

Have You Gotten Your Flu Vaccine Yet?

Submitted by: Colin J Muise, RN, BScN, 26 CF H Svcs C Greenwood

What is the best way to protect yourself and your family from the flu? By getting the annual flu vaccine of course!

In Canada, the regular flu season usually starts in November – some sporadic influenza activity has been already reported in Ontario and Quebec – an estimated 10-25% of Canadians get sidelined by influenza until it runs its course in April.

“The flu” is a highly contagious respiratory infection caused by the influenza virus which is spread through the air by coughing or sneezing and on surfaces we touch. It typically starts as a headache with chills and cough. There normally is a fever, body/muscle aches and pains, fatigue & weakness and the symptoms often last for a week or more. Children may also suffer nausea, vomiting and diarrhoea, but these symptoms are uncommon in adults.

The flu is most easily spread in crowded conditions such as schools, workplaces, and public transportation. In addition to getting your flu vaccine, regularly washing your hands, keeping surfaces at home and at work (such as telephone, countertops and doorknobs) as clean as possible and covering your mouth (with the inside of your elbow rather than your hand) when you cough also help limit the spread of the virus.

The flu vaccine causes your immune system to produce antibodies against the specific strains of the virus in the vaccine (normally 3 specific strains) – so when you are exposed to those strains of the virus, the antibodies will help prevent the infection. If you are exposed to other strains of the virus (not in the vaccine) you may become infected, but the severity and duration of the infection is normally limited. In other words, you will be less sick and sick for a shorter period of time.

Health Canada recommends the flu vaccine for the following people:

- Children aged six to 23 months
- Adults and children with chronic heart or lung disease (e.g. asthma, COPD)
- Anyone living in a nursing home or chronic care facility
- People 65 years of age or older
- People with chronic conditions such as diabetes, anaemia, cancer, immune suppression, HIV or kidney disease

- Children and adolescents on long-term acetylsalicylic acid (ASA) therapy
- Healthcare workers, other caregivers and household contacts capable of transmitting influenza to the above “at-risk” groups

This year the province of Nova Scotia is making the influenza vaccine available, at no personal cost, to all Nova Scotians wanting the vaccine.

The CF Surgeon General strongly recommends any CF member (who normally obtains their health care at CF clinics) who wants to protect him/herself and their family from the flu to get the influenza vaccine.

Influenza vaccine is currently available during normal hours of Operations at the Immunization Clinic : Mon, Wed and Fri from 0900-1130 hrs or via booked appointments through CDU Appointments at local 1958.

Questions regarding the flu or other vaccines can be addressed to Colin Muise, RN at the immunization clinic – local 5613.

Remember – Be wise and immunize!

14 Wing Honours and Awards

14 Wing Commander, Colonel Bill Seymour and Wing Chief Warrant Officer Jim Jardine were proud to present the Military and Civilian members of the quarter awards on October 28, 2010 at the Annapolis Mess. Sergeant Peter MacDonald and Mrs Lori Gordon were the recipients for this quarter.

14 Wing Civilian Employee of the Quarter Mrs Lori Gordon

Mrs Lori Gordon is the epitome of a dedicated, committed and forward thinking civilian employee. Truly motivated towards providing the optimum of personnel support to the Wing, whether it is in the function of her primary duties, the organization skills required to pull off the outstanding Public Service Appreciation events or in her important guiding role on the Employment Equity team, Mrs. Gordon's enthusiasm, exceptional work ethic and true belief in the Wing motto of Operate as One, have combined to make her an exceptional recipient of this 14 Wing Civilian Employee of the Quarter Award.

14 Wing Service Person of the Quarter Sergeant MacDonald

As 14 Air Maintenance Squadron (14 AMS) Deputy Aircraft Maintenance Control Record Superintendent, Sergeant MacDonald is a consummate professional and extraordinary leader who consistently works well above the requirement of his rank level. A proactive individual, he constantly looks ahead to effectively manage the CP140 Stagger Plan, liaising with the Weapon System Manager, Aircraft Engineer Officer and the Aurora Project Maintenance Office to achieve optimum fleet readiness. His work ethic and support to operations are exemplary as the Defence Resource Management Information System Subject Matter Expert for 14 AMS. He has given countless hours of his own time reviewing data on short notice and addressing many critical airworthiness issues and functionality shortcomings. Sgt MacDonald is a credit to the Canadian Forces and is most deserving of Service Person of the Quarter.

Halte-garderie à temps plein : mise à jour – 2^e édition

(submitted by : Margaret Reid, directrice générale du CRFMG

Voici une nouvelle édition de la FAQ sur la toute nouvelle expansion de la halte-garderie à temps plein du CRFMG. Comme promis, nous y apportons quelques réponses sur les exigences provinciales relatives à l’attribution de permis et sur notre personnel. Nous y répondons également aux questions couramment posées sur les périodes de fermeture de la garderie. La semaine prochaine, nous vous présenterons le personnel de la halte-garderie.

Nous sommes fins prêts; nous attendons seulement que nos conseillers pour l’attribution du permis provincial nous donnent le feu vert.

Quel est le rapport personnel-enfants?

Le rapport personnel-enfants est déterminé par l’autorité provinciale de délivrance des permis et dépend de l’âge des enfants dans la pièce. Dans notre salle pour les bébés, ce rapport est de 1 personne pour 4 enfants; dans notre salle tous âges, il est de 1 personne pour 6 enfants.

Pourquoi la halte-garderie est-elle divisée en deux salles?

L’autorité provinciale de délivrance des permis exige que dans une garderie à temps plein, on s’occupe des très jeunes enfants (de 3 à 17 mois) dans un espace séparé. Cette mesure a pour but d’assurer la sécurité des enfants gardés et de faire en sorte que l’équipement, les jeux et les programmes de la salle correspondent à l’âge des bambins. Notre garderie comprend une salle pour bébés âgés de 3 à 17 mois et une salle tous âges pour les enfants plus âgés.

Quel est l’avantage de détenir un permis provincial accordé par le ministère des Services communautaires?

Le fait que nous remplissions les critères d’attribution d’un permis provincial vous garantit que nous vous offrons un endroit où votre enfant pourra s’épanouir. Les enfants apprendront et joueront dans une ambiance sécuritaire et agréable, et leurs parents auront accès à des soins abordables, souples et de qualité. Nous aurons un cuisinier chargé de préparer chaque jour des collations et un dîner nutritifs, d’après un menu approuvé par un diététicien immatriculé. Des éducateurs de la petite enfance offriront à votre enfant un environnement sécuritaire et chaleureux dans lequel il pourra jouer et apprendre. Notre garderie sera entièrement équipée du tout dernier et du plus perfectionné équipement de développement des jeunes enfants pour favoriser un environnement d’apprentissage sain.

Pourquoi y a-t-il tant de formalités à remplir pour réserver une place pour nos enfants?

C’est très simple, le permis de garderie à temps plein nous oblige à faire remplir des formalités pour chaque enfant dont nous nous occupons, qu’il nous rende visite une fois par an ou trois fois par semaine. Nous n’y pouvons rien. La bonne nouvelle, c’est que vous n’aurez à remplir ces formalités qu’une fois, avant votre première visite. Le but est uniquement d’assurer la sécurité de votre enfant.

Y aura-t-il des périodes où la halte-garderie sera fermée, à Noël ou l’été, par exemple?

Contrairement au service actuel, la nouvelle halte-garderie sera ouverte toute l’année, y compris l’été. Cependant, elle pourrait être fermée pour différentes raisons, prévues ou imprévues. Par exemple, elle sera fermée durant les Fêtes, du 24 décembre au 3 janvier inclus. À l’occasion (mais très rarement), la garderie pourra fermer pour permettre à ses employés de participer à des activités de perfectionnement professionnel. Par exemple, nous savons déjà qu’elle fermera à midi le 17 décembre pour cette raison. Encore une fois, ces fermetures seront rares et seront annoncées longtemps à l’avance.

La halte-garderie sera-t-elle ouverte durant les journées pédagogiques à l’école?

Bien sûr! C’est exactement la raison (ou l’une des raisons) pour laquelle la halte-garderie existe! Si vos services de garde habituels ne sont pas accessibles, nous vous offrons une solution de rechange. Et nous sommes prêts pour les journées pédagogiques : nous offrirons à vos enfants des programmes fantastiques.

La halte-garderie sera-t-elle ouverte quand la neige oblige les écoles à fermer?

Le CRFMG a une politique de fermeture les jours de neige excessive qui vise à assurer la sécurité des familles. Si on juge que les routes ne sont pas sûres, la halte-garderie fermera. Mais la fermeture d’une école ne signifiera pas automatiquement la fermeture de la garderie. Cela dépendra des conditions du moment. Si la décision de fermer la halte-garderie et prise, elle sera annoncée sur les stations de radio locales et par message sur le répondeur téléphonique de la garderie. Si la fermeture est décidée en cours de journée, les parents ou les gardiens seront contactés pour venir chercher les enfants.

Comment savoir ce que vous servirez à dîner et comment être sûr que les collations et les repas sont santé?

Les menus des collations et des repas seront affichés sur le babillard à l’intention des parents à la garderie. À titre de garderie à temps plein agréée, nous devons faire approuver nos menus par un diététicien immatriculé. Nous avons une cuisine neuve et entièrement équipée et un cuisinier préparera chaque jour les collations et les dîners. Nous servirons une collation en milieu de matinée, un dîner et une collation en après-midi à tous les enfants présents.

Est-ce que je peux apporter des collations et des dîners que j’ai moi-même préparés pour mon enfant?

Le permis ne permet pas d’apporter de la nourriture. Cependant, dans des cas particuliers (allergies, par exemple), des exceptions peuvent être faites, sous réserve d’approbation de la directrice des programmes de garde. Veuillez noter qu’il n’y aura pas de noix dans notre garderie.

Le personnel de la garderie est-il formé?

Tous nos éducateurs de la petite enfance sont diplômés d’un programme adéquat et sont spécialisés dans l’élaboration de programmes et la prestation de services adaptés à l’âge. Ils ont aussi suivi un programme spécialisé orienté sur le mode de vie militaire et sur les besoins des enfants faisant partie d’une famille de militaire.

Toepics - Provincial Medals for Greenwood Skaters!

As noted last week...we have results from the BMO Nova Scotia Sectional Championships. Jenna Breckon, in her second year as a pre-novice skater, came away with a bronze medal around her neck and a berth to the National Championships in Mississauga Ontario. She skated a strong Short Program, placing 2nd, to put her in medal contention. Her Long Program had a few minor glitches, but her exceptional edge quality and smooth glide kept her in the mix. Joining her in Ontario will be James Hazelton who defended his provincial Novice Mens title by bettering the next closest skater by 10 points. He still has some work to do, but is steadily improving and will be ready for the Challenge event.

This weekend, several Starskaters from the club will attend the first event of the season in Dartmouth at the Shannon Open. Representing the club will be Erika Rice, Victoria Frowen and Brooke Johnson. Good Luck Girls!

The 14 AMS Safety Award provides well-deserved recognition of individuals who have significantly contributed to the Squadron's Safety Programs or who have prevented an accident that could have resulted in serious injury, damage, or loss. Citation on Award reads "While Pte Wright was carrying out an On-the-Job Training After-Flight Check on aircraft CP140104 under the supervision of a Performance Of Maintenance technician; he discovered two crossed control cables in the left hand wing inboard trailing edge area. His meticulous attention to detail was instrumental in his finding the left hand aileron trim cable and emergency uplock release cable incorrectly routed and chafing against each other, thus inhibiting the smooth action of both systems. He immediately alerted his supervisor, who then informed the senior chain of command and a Flight Safety was raised. Through a detailed inspection of both the aileron trim and emergency landing gear lowering systems, it was determined that no physical damage was evident; however, if left undetected the tension and chafing of the crossed cables would have become severe enough to cause a complete cable/flight control failure and/or to interfere with the safe lowering of the main landing gear in an emergency situation. It was concluded through a search of the ADAM system that the cables had been in this condition for quite some time and the aircraft had flown many times since the last recorded maintenance in this area on these systems. Thanks to Pte Wright's outstanding attention to detail a potentially catastrophic flight safety incident was averted. For displaying the professionalism and true airmanship traits of a seasoned AVN technician well beyond his experience level, Pte Wright is highly recommended for the 14 AMS Safety Award. His exemplary actions serve as an inspiration to his peers and supervisors alike.

Developing a Close Relationship with Your Kids

Submitted by: Kim Dixon, GMFRC Coordinator of Child and Youth Services at 765-1494 local 1812 email Kim.Dixon@forces.gc.ca

Developing a close relationship with your child will help make parenting through those terrible two's, rebellious teen years, and everything in between a little easier. Parenting can be one of the most difficult yet rewarding jobs that you will ever have. Here are a few tips that you can do to help build a close relationship with your child:

- Never pass up an opportunity to tell your child that you love her/him. As our children get older they tend to pull away making it a little harder for us to show our affection. Don't get discouraged – sneak that kiss on your child's cheek and a hug whenever you can – even though they make a small fuss, it is our job as parents to be there for our kids.
- Spend time with your kids – go to their concerts, parent teacher nights, cheer at their football games and school performances. I have a friend who just took her daughter away to the city for a girl's night where they stayed overnight, did some shopping, and had a great time together. What a fantastic way to actually have fun with your kids – without the pressure of homework and everything at home that we deal with daily.
- Accept our children for who they are – not who we want them to be. Most of our children's character is beyond our control; however we can control how we deal with them and what we say. Remember your son may never be the NHL star you hoped he would be or your daughter may not become the Broadway star of your dreams.
- Be aware of your child's problems and needs. This will help you to help them when they are dealing with something that is causing them stress. When we understand our children's usual ups & downs we are better able to notice a change in our children's behaviour and help them deal with the situation together.

- Finding a mutual interest between you and your child. As our children grow up it is more difficult to find ways to connect to each other. We can't force them to stay close, however we can find things to do together that we both enjoy. Maybe it is watching the local university hockey team play a game or you both share a love of hiking. Whatever it is – enjoy it with your child!

November 20th is a special day set aside each year to honour and respect children – National Child Day. In 1993, the Canadian Government chose this day to commemorate the adoption by the United Nations of two human rights documents on that date: the Declaration of the Rights of the Child in 1959 and the Convention on the Rights of the Child in 1989.

Take time on this day to do something special with your child – a trip for ice cream, supper at their favourite place or playing one of their favourite games.

Greenwood Bowling Lanes Under New Management

Greenwood Bowling Centre got off to a slow start this year due to several changes within the facility. However, now they are up and running under the new supervision of Leon Bullock. "We are very appreciative of the understanding from the public over the past month or two as we train new staff, conduct renovations and implement new policies and services." Bullock says "We aim to provide a better bowling experience for all of our future guests from league bowlers to families looking for a fun night out by providing more public bowling, a cleaner, friendlier environment and new and improved services from our licensed concession to our fully catered and hosted birthday packages."

The centre provides 12 lanes of 5-pin bowling with public bowling from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., Monday to Thursday, 2:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. on Saturday, 2:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Sunday and Cosmic Bowling every Friday from 5:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Bullock's main emphasis will be on providing superior customer service and continuing to upgrade the facility to bring it into the current millennium. "If my guests don't thoroughly enjoy their time spent here and don't go on to tell their friends and family about our fantastic service, then we are not achieving what we have set out to do."

What is an Addiction Free

"Internet Lifestyle"?

The word addiction gets thrown around sometimes without a clear understanding of what people are talking about. For some of us, images can come up of people needing to drink in the morning to take the edge off, or living on the streets searching for the next fix. But how does that relate to internet?

Addiction is a broad term that often gets confused with physical dependency (the body needing a fix). However, there are psychological or behavioural addictions as well. Looking at the internet and technology as an area of concern is still a relatively new field of study so there is not a set language yet on how to describe it. For the purpose of this article, we will just refer to it as a concern with internet.

Concerns with internet can be broken down into 3 distinct groups; excessive gaming, sexual preoccupations and e-mail/ text-messaging. In this day and age it is not like you can just avoid the internet completely and, really, not all internet or technology usage is bad. So, here are some guidelines to help you decide if you or someone else's internet use is a 'concern'.

There are four main areas to look at when you are considering your use of internet and other technologies.

First, is looking at the concept of time. Some questions you could ask yourself are;

- Are you staying online longer than you originally intended?
- Do you find that you get so engrossed that you lose track of time?
- Are you neglecting other responsibilities, either at work or home, because of the amount of time online?

Second, is the concept of withdrawal. I know sometimes people wonder how you can have withdrawal symptoms when it is not a physical dependency; but it does happen. Mind you, the idea of phantom vibrating syndrome (when you feel your phone go off and it hasn't) is widely reported, which shows some connection between our body and our technology. Some questions you could ask yourself are;

- Do you feel nervous, anxious, or at a loss when you are without a piece of technology?
- If a piece of technology (i.e. phone, computer, MP3, gaming systems) were to break or be out of service would you become tense, also would you feel great relief when you were able to access it again?
- Do you feel anxious, depressed and/ or frustrated when internet and/or text messaging services is not accessible?

The third area looks at the concept of tolerance; it includes the need for continuously better technology and/ or more hours of use. Some questions you could ask yourself are;

- Are you spending more money than you can afford in order to get the newest technology?
- Is being online affecting the amount of sleep you are getting?

Lastly, is concept of possible negative social repercussions. Some questions you could ask yourself are;

- Have you decreased the amount of time you spend with family/ friends, in order to be online?
- Has staying connected online, kept you from socializing with people in your local area?
- Are your hobbies and interests limited to online activities?
- Have you ever been criticized by someone close to you for the amount of time you spend connected to technology?
- Do you, on a regular basis, go online or message someone else while in a social situation?

These questions are just meant to be used to guide you to explore your internet and technology use or share with someone that you might be worried about. If you think that things are starting to be a concern, you can find out where help is available through your Health Promotion Office at 765-1494 Ext 5389 and online at www.forces.gc.ca/know-sais.

HOROSCOPES

November 14 - November 20

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20

Aries, an interesting meeting with someone you haven't seen in a while gets you thinking about future projects. Creativity is flowing.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21

Taurus, a mistake has others wondering who is to blame, but you know the truth. Errors are inevitable, so don't let it get to you too much. Redemption is coming.

GEMINI - May 22/Jun 21

Gemini, what seemed like a chance encounter is turning out to be more of a routine meeting. Perhaps this person has feelings for you that have otherwise gone unexpressed.

CANCER - Jun 22/Jul 22

It's not like you to ask for help, Cancer. But this week even you can't take it all on. Talk to Scorpio or Aquarius for some ideas and a starting-off point. They'll be happy to assist.

LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23

Leo, you dug up a photograph and were laughing at how you looked only a few years back. Make a few new memories this week with close friends and family.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

Virgo, mull over all the possibilities before looking for a job with a different organization. Don't give notice until you have something new already lined up.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't rely too much on chance, Libra. It will take a bit more planning to tackle something you need to get done in the days to come. Start thinking about it.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

Hold a loved one close, Scorpio, because you don't know when you may see this person again. It's best to make the most of every moment you have with family.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

Sagittarius, if you rush through events you will hardly enjoy them. Linger and savor all of the sights and sounds of parties and special moments.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Capricorn, you're losing lots of energy because you have been running yourself ragged. If you don't take a break, then your body will take it for you.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Just when you thought you could circumvent something that would cost a lot of money, a new problem arises that will make avoidance impossible. Take it in stride.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20

Pisces, a minor adjustment will give you an entirely new perspective. You know you'll be able to handle anything.

Fun By The Numbers

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

The End of an Era

Closure of Avionics Labs, a Centre of Electronics Excellence

Current serving members and retired Avionics Technicians from various units gathered on Friday 1 October, 2010 to mark the end of an era in 14 Air Maintenance Squadron (14 AMS), the closure of the 2nd line Avionics Labs organization. The event conjured a wide range of emotions, from enthusiastic revelation of favourite stories to solemn acceptance that this centre of specialty skills in repairing aircraft electronic systems had come to an end.

The Labs organization had one of the most challenging roles associated with supporting the various Anti-Submarine warfare aircraft that have been the centerpiece of operations at 14 Wing Greenwood over the years. These aircraft relied extensively on their complex electronics to perform this challenging mission. Maintaining these systems was the demanding responsibility of the Labs. Anyone familiar with the interior of the CP-140 knows it can be thought of as a 'bus full of electronic boxes', and can appreciate the amount of support the Avionics Labs provided.

The ceremony featured several speeches and Lieutenant Colonel (LCol) Flynn, Commanding Officer of 14 AMS, expressed his sincerest appreciation for what the Labs organization contributed to the reputation and legacy of 14 AMS. He was followed by the Acting Wing Commander, LCol Major, who highlighted the importance of providing functional equipment to the operators of the CP-140. These comments were followed by a number of previously serving members of the Labs regaling the audience with fond memories and humorous anecdotes.

A brief history dating back to the early roots of the Labs, is included in the sidebar:

Text from Plaques Presented at Ceremony

For over 50 years, dedicated shops have served to maintain increasingly complex avionics equipment in support of flying operations at CFB Greenwood. This organization has its roots in the 1950s, when the Lancaster was modified for Anti-Submarine Warfare duties through installation of electronic sensors. Originally based in 7 Hangar on the old flight line, these shops, referred to as "Labs", became part of the base Maintenance Organization, where specialists would perform repairs on the new electronic and instrument systems.

A constant in the history of Labs was change and challenge. From the Lancaster to the interim era of the Neptune, and on to the Canadair built Argus, the evolution of aircraft saw a continuing escalation in the complexity of the systems repaired by Labs. The end of each of these eras presented challenges as well; repairs became more difficult as parts became scarce due to system obsolescence. During the Argus years, the Maintenance Organization gained the formal name of Base Aircraft Maintenance and Engineering Organization, or BAMEO. Labs continued to adapt to changes in organizational structure and persisted in providing dedicated support to the avionics systems on the Argus airframe.

Perhaps the most dramatic change in the evolution of Labs came with the introduction of the CP-140 Aurora in the late 1970s. A new aircraft with state of the art systems introduced a host of new equipment to the Labs. This was the pinnacle of the AVS Labs with the introduction of Automated Test Equipment in addition to maintaining legacy avionics system components for the Argus. Technicians worked hard during this transition in order to provide ongoing support to flying operations.

In the end, it was change that ultimately led to the closure of the Avionics Labs as they were known, with the adoption of a first to third line maintenance concept for the CP-140 fleet. The Avionics Labs have served the Long Range Patrol community with pride since their inception. This plaque is dedicated to the hard working men and women who have served in the Avionics Labs during its long and proud history.

The closure of the Avionics labs stems from the transition of the Aurora fleet to a '1st line to 3rd line' concept of maintenance for electronic systems, in which technicians remove unserviceable units and route them to contractors for repair. All avionics repairs are now handled under a portion of the Optimized Weapon System Support (OWSS) contract with L3 Electronic Systems, located in Enfield, NS. This transition was not without challenges. Incredible efforts were made by the last generation of Avionics technicians in Labs, as they directly supported the move of many test benches and repair functions to L3 ES's facility. L3 ES, which employs several personnel with CP-140 experience, including that gained while serving in Labs, was also instrument in the success of this monumental task.

To mark the legacy and the close bond with the continuation of the mission of repairing avionics at L3 ES, three plaques were presented: one to Chief Warrant Officer Pitman, 14 AMS, to hang in the halls of the Squadron to honour those that served; one to Mr Bryan Nelson of the Greenwood Military Aviation Museum, to ensure the story of the Labs is shared in their venue; and lastly to Mr Bruce Watling, L3 ES CP140 OWSS Program Manager, to recognize the link to the L3 ES facility, and ensure the spirit of this fine organization lives on in new hands.

That concluded the formal ceremony marking the closure of the Avionics Labs organization in 14 AMS. Those in attendance received a commemorative coin, a memento to ensure memories of the Labs will not fade anytime soon. The resounding message that echoed throughout the day was one of thanks and appreciation, to the men and women who served and utilized an impressive range of skills to build the fine reputation of the Avionics Labs.
