Let it snow Winter family fun rescheduled, waiting on the white stuff

Organizers are hoping for the arrival of winter, as they have rescheduled the fifth annual 14 Wing Family snowshoe and sleigh ride day originally planned for January 27 to February 17. If we are not able to hold the event February 17, the event will be cancelled.

The community centre and Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre will co-host the afternoon of snowshoeing at the 14 Wing Greenwood Golf Course, from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. This event is a challenge to all defence team members to get active and enjoy a winter afternoon with their families. All military members, their families and valid Recreation Card holders are welcome.

This event is also a "Take the Roof off Winter" celebration, part of a physical activity campaign designed to help Nova Scotians of all ages improve their health by getting outdoors and being more active in winter.

Snowshoes will be available to fit any size foot, and there will be a Kid Zone with face painting, crosswords, etc. Sleigh rides and hot drinks are also planned. If you would like to bring your own snowshoes, cross country skis, Nordic walking poles etc, please do. Prizes may be won along the course and back in the club house.

For information, call 765-1494 ext. 5337.

Murphys make military family business

Sara Keddy,
Managing editor

It was a family affair January 27, as 14 Wing Greenwood hosted a swearing-in ceremony for a new Air Reserve member.

"I was choked up; it was moving," said Master Corporal David Murphy, on daughter Amanda's decision to join the Canadian Air Force as a Reservist. "I didn't expect her to join the military four years ago, if you'd have asked me, but we're all behind her."

That also includes mom, Corporal Deborah Murphy. If you count implicit support from a family that understands what being a part of a military tradition means, the Berwick family now can point to four generations of commitment.

David was a Reservist himself for four years, before starting a 20-year career in the Regular force. After retiring, he returned in 2003 as a Reservist and now works in aircraft maintenance.

Deborah joined the Regular force in 1979, the same year as David: the couple met in the military and later married. She left the force at one point for one year, but came back to the milita and then the Air Force. She works in 14 Wing Greenwood's Air Reserve Flight orderly room.

David's father joined the Air Force after the Second World War and worked as a radio operator and a navigator. His grandfather joined the British Royal Horse Artillery in 1914, then the Royal Flying Corps in 1916 and, finally, the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1925.

A happy birthday Easy way to party not hard to find

Sara Keddy,
Managing editor

You're in luck if you're planning a party for your birthday boy or girl in Greenwood.

Along with a range of community business and tourist attractions that will host your event, 14 Wing Greenwood's own base facilities add something extra.

"In 20 years of being here," says Kim Dixon, the coordinator of child and youth services at the Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre, "I have never had a parent come in and say they were stressed about what to do for their child's birthday party."

"There is more opportunity here – a child with a birthday in July to October, say, is in the peak of festival season, corn mazes, the zoo.... There are so many different ways to have a party, and kids love different."

Dixon, the mom of a nine-year-old girl, knows parents want quick, hassle-free birthday parties, and organizations and businesses that take care of everything are always the better bet. The decorating, loot bags, cake and food, games and prizes you need to consider for a home-based birthday party – that all adds up, in money and time.

"It is always cheaper to go out. Parents tend to forget they're supposed to be celebrating a child's birthday if they have to do all that themselves."

Dixon says a three-hour wagon ride at a nearby farm can easily be turned into a cowboy-themed party. There are cooking parties, parks, movies, beaches and more to thinking of.

"Be creative. There are so many options," Dixon says.

She particularly likes the access the community has to 14 Wing facilities, like the pool, bowling centre and gyms.

"We are really lucky with what's already here."

In the swim

Party-goers get a little talk from the lifeguards at 14 Wing Greenwood's indoor pool about pool rules – "and then they jump in," says aquatics supervisor Marie-Claude Carrier.

"We receive a lot of bookings for the pool parties."

Kids of all ages enjoy the swim time, and the Fitness & Sports Centre's facility – with its slide, toys and games, and floating mat – fills an hour with fun. Post-party, the centre's classroom is available for another hour for cake and social time.

The pool parties generally have room for 25 kids, which includes two lifeguards; you can add numbers when you book, which ensures Carrier has qualified staff on hand to supervise the pool.

Got a summer birthday? Everything indoors can happen outdoors at the base's outdoor pools on Church Street. Carrier says parties may book the pools privately, and make use of the gazebo, a BBQ and other poolside features during warmer months.

Strike!

What's North America's birthday party hot spot?

"Bowling centres are the number one spot for parties," says Greenwood Bowling Centre manager Leon Bullock. "Kids go crazy for the parties."

Even better is the reaction from parents after they've had a fully-catered, hosted party – complete with face painting, balloon animals and no clean-up worries:

"... an amazing job with my child's birthday party... attentive to our every need. I would not hesitate to have another birthday party at the Greenwood Bowling Centre... thank you for going the extra mile in making this birthday party memorable and stress-free," wrote Jennifer MacLeod after her child's party.

Military parents Robyn Lush and Trevor Warren were scrambling to organize a going-away party for their 10-year-old daughter before being posted out of Greenwood. The bowling party organized by Bullock and his staff on short notice was "exceptional... definitely money well spent and my daughter's best party yet!"

"This was our first experience with having a bowling party, and Leon... planned this event completely. The kids had so much fun, and Leon was great with them."

Bullock says it's his centre's aim to please.

"We cater to everything and anyone, we're flexible – at the end of the day, we want to make it so easy for you to come here, and then tell all your family and friends about the fun you had," he says.

The bowling centre offers several party packages, from basic bowling to a face painter, balloon maker and even a staff host to set up, clean up and keep party-goers entertained. The cake and drinks are ready as ordered; "if you want a fruit tray, I'm already at the store and can pick it up for you, too," Bullock says.

"A lot of people stress over birthday parties, and when they call and find out we do everything for them they're relieved. Parents can go to their kid's party and enjoy themselves, too."

Gym time

Have an active crowd coming? Book the 14 Wing Greenwood Community Centre gym for two hours of whatever your party-goers want to do.

"All that space? All that equipment?" community centre director Jill Jackson says. "Let them run around!"

Jackson says party bookings can make use of the gym and a range of equipment, from ball hockey to basketball to even dances for teen parties. Parents can organize their own games and activities, or just let the kids make their own fun – and be active. There's a nearby room for cake time, too.

The gym at the Fitness and Sports Centre is also available for bookings, says Nicole Pappard. She sees a lot of floor hockey and basketball activity taking place, whether it's kids, parties or adult groups.

"It's generally an active crowd, for sure, looking for the gym – there is the classroom for cake or pizza, but, generally, it's just the activity: eat, and run!"

On ice

In the winter season – or, at least, whenever the ice is in at the Greenwood Arena and curling club – you can hold a really cool event.

The rink and the four-sheet curling club are both available for rental, either for parties, work-sponsored events, neighbourhood get-togethers or other larger gatherings.

Rink time is dependant on availability, but there are good times available outside minor hockey and league play. Outside an actual booking, public skating Saturday, between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Sunday, between 11 a.m. and noon, is always an option. Nets and pylons for young skaters can be provided, and the Bombers' warm room is available for your social afterwards.

The curling club is busy with league and bonspiel action, and it gets heavier later in the season schedule. Daytime events – such as school visits or corporate-organized bookings – are an easier fit. The club has sliders, brooms and also the lighter "Little Rocks" stones for use.

Ice night

Acadia University in Wolfville hosted a military appreciation night at the men's hockey game between the Axemen and the University of Prince Edward Island Panthers February 4. The official puck drop was done by #27 Andrew Clark of the Axemen, 14 Wing Greenwood's Chief Warrant Officer Jim Jardine, 14 Wing Commander Colonel Jim Irvine and UPEI Panther #77 Dylan Quaile. UPEI outplayed the Axemen and won the evening's match 6-1.

Military family...

And, David's father's brother earned a Distinguished Flying Cross, presented by King George, for his service during the Second World War. Unfortunately, he paid a high price for his military career: he was one of 21 Air Force personnel killed in a plane crash in Saskatchewan after the war.

"There has been a lot of commitment, yes," said David. "Amanda knows what that's like."

Amanda, 23, finished high school and attended community college in Middleton for cosmetology training. She had a son two years ago, graduated last spring and did work in her field for a time.

"It was what she wanted – but not what she expected," David said. With a young child to consider, Amanda started thinking a year ago about the work and life of her parents.

"She needs a secure career, and she needs to do that for her son," David said. "We're all looking forward to her getting on in a good career. As a Reservist, postings are not something she'll have to deal with for awhile. If she does decide to roll over to the Regular force, there is time down the road."

Amanda was sworn into the Reserves at 14 Wing's headquarters on a Friday, and reported to work the next Monday as a supply tech.

Military wife takes on TV

Vanessa Roman is used to seeing her husband, Major Jason Roman, fly off in his Sea King helicopter with the Canadian Armed Forces. Now she's doing her own bit of moving - to the small screen.

The mum of three and Halifax real estate agent hosts "Reno vs Relocate," which will begin airing on HGTV network in June. In the show, Roman helps families decide whether they should renovate their existing home, or find a new one. For military families, the decision is often far more straight forward:

which house will be home in a new community. The complications come from the short window in which to find property and the unique requirements for service families.

Roman says being a military wife gives her first-hand experience making these moves go smoothly, and she puts in the effort to make sure that's the case.

"I come from a military family, I'm married to a military guy. I understand the challenges of moving to a new city and integrating the family within an existing community. There are a lot of hoops to jump through, and you generally get just seven days to find a house."

Military transfers are a unique way to move, she says, and the process can be time consuming and complicated. Romans is a registered real estate agent with Brookfield Global Relocation, and she is also an active member of the Nova Scotia Association of Realtors and a member of the Canadian Real Estate Association. She holds degrees in economics from Dalhousie University and journalism from the Uni-

"I saw that other agents were not able to understand the unique prospect of buying a home for a military family. This is your single biggest investment as a family and you need to select an agent carefully or you will lose money."

So, do you want a TV star as your real estate agent?

"In Nova Scotia, you can become a licensed real estate agent in only three months," says Roman. "That's why it's extremely important for you to interview agents."

"Mistakes in real estate are costly, so, if you are ill advised, it can cost you thousands or hundreds of thousands of dollars. So, even if my advice just helps people to pick a better agent, I think it's worthwhile.

Learn about, stop family violence

Stephanie Townsend, GMFRC coordinator of prevention, support & intervention

From name-calling and bullying in the schoolyard to physical assaults between family members, there are many forms of violence in our community.

We have all either experienced some form of violence in our lives or have had the opportunity to support a friend, family member or acquaintance who was a victim of violence. The week of February 13 marks Family Violence Prevention Week in Nova Scotia and, to celebrate, the Greenwood Military Family Resources Centre is offering information packages to educate individuals on this subject. This is a great way to gain additional knowledge on family violence so we can recognize the signs and better support friends and family. It would also be a valuable tool if you are doing research for a school project or trying to generate more awareness in the community.

If you would like more information, or would like to pick up a free package, visit the GMFRC and become an advocate to help prevent violence in your community.

Violence en milieu familial

Stephanie Townsend,
Coordonnatrice de la prévention, du soutien et de l'intervention au CRFMG

Des insultes et des actes d'intimidation dans la cour de l'école aux agressions physiques entre les membres de la famille, la violence revêt de nombreuses formes dans notre communauté.

Nous avons tous connu une certaine forme de violence dans notre vie ou avons eu l'occasion de soutenir un ami, un membre de la famille ou une connaissance qui a été victime de violence. La semaine du 13 février marque la Semaine annuelle de prévention de la violence familiale dans notre province. Le Centre de ressources pour les familles militaires de Greenwood célèbre cet événement en offrant des troupes d'information afin d'aider à éduquer les personnes sur ce sujet. Il s'agit d'un excellent moyen d'acquérir d'autres connaissances sur la violence en milieu familial, de sorte que nous puissions reconnaître les signes et mieux soutenir nos amis et notre famille. La trousse d'information pourrait également s'avérer un outil précieux si vous faites de la recherche dans le cadre d'un projet scolaire ou si vous cherchez à sensibiliser davantage la collectivité.

Si vous désirez obtenir de plus amples renseignements ou vous procurer une trousse d'information gratuite, venez faire un tour au CRFMG afin de contribuer à prévenir la violence dans notre communauté.

WINTERCARNIVAL 2012

That's a wrap!

Wing Winter Carnival reports on stars and spirit

Captain Michele Weir-Cotnoir, Winter Carnival committee

14 Wing Greenwood celebrated Winter Carnival 2012 February 2 and 3, closing with a glamorous Oscars-style ceremony true to the carnival theme of "Lights, Camera, Carnival!"

Teamwork and esprit de corps were abundant throughout the carnival, as units competed in events ranging from hockey to the lip sync. All teams had large cheering sections with an array of elaborate costumes fitting branch sub-themes. There were also family events February 4 that were well attended.

Many thanks to everyone who helped make this event a huge success. A special thank you to the volunteers on the Winter Carnival committee, OPIs of events, Safe Ride Program volunteers and event staff. A big thank you goes to our carnival judging committee, including Wing Commander Colonel Jim Irvine, Wing Chief Warrant Officer Jim Jardine, Cathy Irvine and Amanda Jardine for taking time to support the carnival.

In the overall ranking, Wing Administration branch members scored the highest and captured the carnival title, followed by 413 Squadron, Wing Logistics and Engineering, Long Range Patrol, 14 Air Maintenance Squadron and Wing Operations/ 404 Squadron.

The best beards in the beard growing contest were presented by Wing Logistics and Engineering; the most futile by 413 Squadron. In the most colourful category, 14 Air Maintenance was the winner.

Trophies were presented to 413 Squadron for hockey and the lip synch, Long Range Patrol for their ice painting, Wing Administration for the Escapades and Wing Logistics and Engineering for Spirit.

With the purchase of carnival keychains, names were entered into a draw, and the big winners were: 1st prize (46" 3D TV with Shrek Starter Pack) Brian Birnie, Wing Construction and Engineering; 2nd prize (ASUS Eeepad Transformer) Sergeant Michaud, 14 Software Engineering Squadron; 3rd prize (8 GB iPod with docking station) John Harrison, Construction and Engineering.

Our mission began in Bridgetown in 1991, dedicated to the well-being of women providing one-to-one confidential support, empowering women to make informed decisions and referring them to appropriate services. We develop and deliver programs to women based on needs identified by the community in life skills, health and wellness, budgeting, economic development, healthy relationships, job search and computer skills and legal information. We work with women as well as organizations to develop initiatives which support women. We give presentations, promoting public awareness as well as information on women's issues.

We are especially proud of the Frances Mills-Clements Bursary and congratulate the 2011 recipient, Lori Ann Stephenson, as well as the Treasure Beach Women's Benevolent Society in Jamaica upon their receipt of money from the Frances Mills-Clements International Development Fund. Our primary fundraiser for the bursary is The Road Here: Stories from Senior Women in Rural Nova Scotia, edited and photographed by Rachel Brighton.
