14 Wing women win regional volleyball gold

Ryan Melanson,
Trident Staff

The CAF Atlantic Regional Volleyball Championship was held March 12 to 15, hosted by PSP at Saint Mary's University in Halifax with teams from CFB

Halifax, 14 Wing Greenwood and 5 CDSB Gagetown competing on the women's side. The men's championship was a two-team battle between CFB Halifax and Greenwood.

The Halifax men bested the Greenwood team, which included pickups from Gagetown, over two straight games to take the men's gold medal and earn the right to represent the Atlantic region at CAF Nationals.

While the Halifax women placed first in the three-team round robin and earned a bye to the finals, they fell to 14 Wing in the final match, earning the silver medal.

The CAF National Volleyball Championship will be held from April 13 to 17 in Borden. ➔

Transition Group stands up member-focussed suite of career, life supports

Sara White,
Managing editor

Introducing the guest speaker at a March 1 briefing on the Canadian Armed Forces' new Transition Group, 14 Wing Greenwood Deputy Wing Commander Bruno Baker urged the crowd to pay attention: "this all about you – a tonne of information, and you should take it seriously."

The CAF's Transition Group stood up in December, a national collective of programs and services designed for transitioning military personnel, with special care and attention to those who are ill or injured; veterans and family members. Colonel Kevin Cameron, Director Transition Services & Policy, said he's already heard similar questions about the Transition Group raised in a number of coast-to-coast briefings, "and that's a good thing. It allows us to see what the concerns are, and answer those."

"We are not just a name change, but a change of what we are bringing to the table. If 'Strong, Secure, Engaged' (Canada's defence policy) chapter one is all about people, how do we make things better for members and families? This is the mechanism."

Thirty-two "walk-in" centres are now open at bases and wings across Canada, including at 14 Wing (in the building located at the main Continued on page 2...

gate, formerly the Military Police quarters), working with local and national partners as needed to support individuals. Access includes Veterans Affairs Canada, Soldier On, HOPE, Canadian Forces Health Services, Military Family Resource Centres, Joint Personnel Support Units, Integrated Personnel Support Centres, Operational Stress Injury Social Support, Personnel Selection Office staff and more; whether in-house or through the Transition Services Centres' reach.

"Transition is more than release," Cameron said. "These are all things you need to consider when you think about what's next in life – and it's never too early to start thinking about transition. You should be focused on your career and your mission, but not to the detriment of your family. We are all going to retire, or there are medical circumstances... life happens. Everyone's situation is unique."

Thinking of a "Plan B" for a post-military career, a rehabilitation program, buying a retirement home, taking further education, moving from the Regular to the Reserve force, "or maybe you just need to take a knee from operational tempo," Cameron said. "We all will walk through the same door, regardless of rank or condition. We'll all use the same organization to move onto whatever might be."

III and injured personnel will continue to be the Transition Group's priority, but Cameron said the military has an obligation to its people and Canada to "help members and families, and return good citizens" to civilian life after a career in service.

"We have a population we should, could and will help. We are building a capability and we know it will be a few years before we get a fully operational model but, in the meantime, we are in 'Op Transition,' too. This is a named CAF operation, a formalized, institutional process we will continue to use to build the program and bring real effect to members and their families – right now." →

Crews respond to SAR searches, coverage requests

March 4, just after 2 p.m., a 14 Wing Greenwood-based aircraft, Rescue 343, 413 (Transport and Rescue) Squadron; was tasked by the Halifax Joint Rescue Coordination Centre for an ELT search near Wabush. R343 tracked the ELT to an aircraft resting on the ground near a cabin. The plane was tied down, not in distress and with no sign of people. R343 stood down, landed in Greenwood around 10:30 p.m.

March 8, just after 9 a.m., a Cormorant helicopter was tasked to assist with a situation that has an S92 experiencing gear box issues in-flight while returning from the Thebaud oil platform. The aircraft of concern was approximately 30 minutes back from landing in Halifax. Just after 10 a.m., the Cormorant was released, as the S92 had landed in Halifax safely.

March 23, a Hercules from Greenwood was tasked just after 6 a.m. to locate two cross-country skiers (a 61-year-old male and a 60-year-old female) as their personal SOS beacon had been activated approximately three hours earlier south of Qikiqtarjuaq (north-north-east of Pangnirtung). The aircraft was asked to locate the pair and drop a message bundle to ascertain if an emergency existed. The aircraft was airborne by 8:30 a.m. In the meantime, a ground search and rescue party reached the skiers around 2:30 p.m. They found no injuries and extracted them to Qikiqtarjuaq. The Hercules made a fuel stop in Kuujuaq, Quebec, and landed home in Greenwood around 8:30 p.m.

March 25, a Cormorant launched from 14 Wing just before 5 a.m. for a man stuck on an ice flow near Charlottetown. Local fire and police services had also been called; the Cormorant was stood down almost immediately and returned to Greenwood just after 5 a.m. →

‘LGBT Purge’ Final Settlement Agreement deadline April 25

In 2016, three former Canadian Armed Forces members brought a class action lawsuit against the Government of Canada on behalf of current and former CAF, RCMP and federal public servants who experienced discrimination, harassment or loss of employment pursuant to various written policies on the grounds they were unsuitable for service or employment because of their sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression. This occurred during a period in the late 1950s through the mid 1990s now referred to as the "LGBT Purge."

In June 2018, the Federal Court approved the Final Settlement Agreement (FSA) that includes all current or former members of the CAF, current or former members of the RCMP and current or former employees of the federal public service who were alive as of October 31, 2016 and who faced threat of sanction, were investigated, were sanctioned, or who were discharged or released from the CAF or RCMP or terminated from the federal public service, or who resigned, in connection with the LGBT Purge, by reason of their sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression between December 1, 1955 and June 20, 1996.

Individuals directly affected by the "LGBT Purge" may submit a claim to Deloitte (the court-approved administrator for the FSA) to request compensation and/ or individual recognition measures until April 25.

A family member of a deceased individual who was directly affected by the actions stated above may also be eligible to receive individual recognition measures; however, they would not be eligible for financial compensation.

The FSA includes financial compensation at four levels between $5,000 and $100,000 and individual reconciliation measures that include the Canada Pride Citation, Personal Letter of Apology, Records Access and File Notation. Class members who experienced exceptional harm, such as PTSD or who were sexually assaulted, may be eligible for additional amounts.

For information about the settlement, please visit Deloitte at lgbtpurgesettlement.com.

The CAF is implementing the FSA in coordination with other Government of Canada stakeholders and has established a dedicated Litigation Implementation Team responsible for the implementation of the FSA as it relates to former or current CAF claimants. →

Service recognized as long-time member retires

Sara White,
Managing editor

Forty-two years of service was highlighted February 18, as Major Ken Kohler prepared for official retirement, effective February 21. He was celebrated at 14 Wing Greenwood during an informal headquarters gathering, something he'd rather have downplayed, but "we couldn't let you go without saying goodbye," said Deputy Wing Commander Lieutenant-Colonel Bruno Baker. "That's 42 years of distinguished service. There are ceremonies for this, and they could be anything, but we wanted to show you our appreciation: it's the right thing to do."

Kohler was presented the Third Clasp of the Canadian Forces Decoration earlier in February: he joined the Royal Canadian Armed Forces in 1976, attended Royal Military College and was first posted to Shearwater. Throughout his career, he had multiple postings to Greenwood, ending his career as the information management officer.

"What a tough job," Baker acknowledged. "I have a new appreciation for it in the work I now do. It's a tough world, full of rules, with a lot of people doing different things. Ken's done a tremendous job and put Greenwood in the lead of information management within the RCAF. So it's with sadness – and great pleasure at the same time – that we wish you all the enjoyment to come in the next stage of your life."

Kohler was presented with an array of certificates and letters, including a certificate of service from Prime Minister Justin Trudeau, thanking him for "your career of service to our country." Nova Scotia Premier Stephen McNeil recognized Kohler's

Deputy Wing Commander Lieutenant-Colonel Bruno Baker, left, Lois Baird, Major Ken Kohler and Chief Warrant Officer Dan Flamand, as Kohler was recognized at a depart with dignity gathering February 18 at 14 Wing Greenwood. Kohler retired after 42-plus years of service within the Royal Canadian Air Force.

S.White

"outstanding service and commitment to country and professional service." 14 Air Maintenance Squadron Lieutenant-Colonel Amy Tsai-Lamoureux thanked Kohler for his earlier career service with flight crews, and the legacy he left there for "generations of airmen." He also received congratulations from the Municipality of the County of Kings, the director general of the Air

Reserve and Baker. Lieutenant-Colonel Joel Ingimundarson, the A6 Director at 1 Canadian Air Division, sent special acknowledgement of Kohler's "tremendous" efforts in the IM world.

Kohler said his most recent seven-plus years in IM truly brought home to him the value of the 14 Wing motto, "Operate as One."

"From my perspective, no one person does anything: it's the people throughout your career who stand around you, support you and help make Greenwood something special."

He thanked his co-workers in the 14 Wing IM office for their help in "an uphill battle – challenging is more than I have words to say."

He became more emotional when thanking his wife, Lois.

"Over the years – does this take a toll on your family? There is not one of you here without any service that doesn't understand that. Some things are more memorable than others, and the good fortune is you got through those." ➔

Community will mark 'Subway Lady' Lorrie's retirement April 16

At 6 p.m. Tuesday, April 16, a retirement dinner and celebration will be held at the Kingston Lions Hall to recognize and honor one of our community's greatest partners.

For more than 25 years, Lorrie Penny, AKA "The Subway Lady," was the friendly face who lead the Subway team in Middleton and Greenwood to provide support to community charities, special events, lunch programs, sports teams and so much more.

This is an opportunity for us in the community, either as individuals or as organizations, to show our appreciation to Penny and the Subway team for how much their support and dedication has meant to us. If you like good food, live entertainment and drinks and would like to help us celebrate the retirement of one of the most ardent supporters of everything that matters or happens in our community, then this event is a "must attend" for you.

Come out and help us show Penny how much she has meant to us, and to wish her and Alec a long and happy retirement. ➔

Berwick parade, service dedicates new war memorial April 9

April 9, the Royal Canadian Legion Ortona Branch 69 Berwick hosts a dedication service for the community's new war memorial, placed at the Berwick & District School on Veterans' Drive. The service is open to the public.

A parade starting from the Berwick Town Hall, 236 Commercial Street, to the school will start at 10:15 a.m. Members from 14 Wing Greenwood, Legion members, veterans, RCMP, Cadets, Scouts and Girl Guides will be joined in the parade by students and teachers from the school. The dedication ceremony will take place in the school gymnasium at 11 a.m. His Honour, The Honourable Arthur J. LeBlanc, Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia, and her Honour Mrs. Patsy LeBlanc will be attending. LeBlanc is the Honorary Patron of the Royal Canadian Legion Nova Scotia/ Nunavut Command.

Since 2015, the Berwick and District School has been the site for the Berwick Legion's Remembrance Day services. The monument was erected a few days before November 11, 2018, the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War, and is now ready for its dedication. Since 2003, April 9 has been designated Vimy Ridge Day.

A direct walkway to the monument is used daily by school students, and may be accessed from the from the Kings Mutual Century Centre parking lot across the street. Four new flag poles fly the flags of Canada, Nova Scotia, the Town of Berwick and the County of Kings, and enhance the visibility of the site. The monument site is a unique way to teach our community's students about Canada's military service since Confederation, instill a sense of appreciation for history and remind all of the sacrifices that have been - and continue to be made.

The monument's streetview centre panel features a picture and quote of a Second World War recruiting poster, depicting a statue holding a torch at the top of the Vimy, France monument. The quote is from the poem, "In Flanders Fields:" "The torch be yours to hold it high, if ye break faith with us who die, we shall not sleep though poppies grow in Flanders Field." The school view centre panel lists the names of the 154 servicemen from Western Kings County who died in the First and Second world wars and the Korean Conflict, and the Act of Remembrance. On one side is a picture of the statue at Vimy, France of a woman weeping, called "Mother Canada" or "Canada Bereft," on the other side is a picture of a First World War soldier standing on sentry duty. The monument is in both English and French.

The monument was financed by Veterans Affairs Canada, the Nova Scotia Department of Communities, Culture and Heritage and the Municipality of the County of Kings. In-kind support came from the Town of Berwick and the Annapolis Valley Regional Centre for Education. ➔
