"Night training is not an annual qualification He had participants dress as they would on ing situations, same as a provincial or municipal and not often taught, so this was an opportunity for our people to shoot in that environment," Cluney says. "We can't pick and choose when we use those skills -it could be day or night. These sessions – it was super cold, super dark. but there is not the luxury when we are faced 24 Military Police Flight members were out with a use of force situation. Members have to be ready."

Cluney, qualified as a use of force instructor 25-yard range, under the direction of the and close protection operator, led 15 members flight's police operations supervisor, Sergeant of the flight through the sessions, focusing on both the issued SIG 225 pistol and C8 carbine.

patrol – again matching training to on-the-job practicalities, including winter coats and gloves.

"They know how to do this, but have they done it in these clothes, the dark, the cold - in any of these circumstances?"

The night training involved extra attention on range safety, because of the darkness, including flashlights and particular attention to where personnel were positioned. Cluney says they didn't use night vision equipment, as that wouldn't be something used in day-to-day patrol work.

"We're trained to respond to domestic polic-police, and we work with specialized partners for situations beyond that.'

Cluney scheduled a third session March 4 to include some daylight exercises. In all, 15 flight members took in this session, proving to both members and the chain of command an interest in perhaps an annual night shoot opportunity and the value of enabling more challenging training.

"It was fun, members really enjoyed it, and the opportunity work with a training instructor on their skills. There is no manual for experience, so a training environment is the best." >

LEGO Labrador build boys' homage to SAR-Tech dad's RCAF career

Sara White, Managing editor

The "pick-up truck, workhorse" capabilities of the old CH113 Labrador, used by the Royal Canadian Air Force as its search and rescue helicopter for 41 years before replacement with the CH149 Cormorant, has a special corner of Master Warrant Officer (retired) Dan Pasieka's heart.

But the LEGO model his sons, Mike, 15, and Denis, 13, represents their tribute to his 26-year military career, including time as a search and rescue technician.

The Ottawa family, and Dan himself, were never posted to 413 (Transport and Rescue) Squadron at 14 Wing Greenwood, but did spend time at search and rescue bases across Canada. Dan retired January 4, and the boys got to work.

"We designed this set for our father as a gift for him because he flew in this Labrador," says Denis, describing CH113 Labrador he flew the early process of sorting through their amassed bins of in for years as a Royal traditional LEGO to sort out as much yellow as they could find. ## Nova Scotia summer fairs, exhibitions cancel traditional 2021 season

the Aurora | 14 Wing Greenwood, NS

In response to COVID-19 and the need to follow current public health quidelines and restrictions in the province of Nova Scotia, the Exhibitions Association of Nova Scotia (EANS) announced March 4 it will not host traditional exhibitions and fairs for the 2021 season.

Event organizers across Nova Scotia are making hard decisions for 2021 to ensure the safety of volunteers, employees, sponsors, exhibitors and the public.

This collective decision does not preclude exhibitions and fairs from hosting smaller events that meet all public health requirements. Planning is underway and announcements will be made later in the year.

EANS wants to thank the dedicated volunteers who make at 5:30 p.m., as the Aylesford Our exhibitions and fairs possible – over 1,200 volunteers p.m. to 8 p.m., Canadian Blood March 31, noon to 3 p.m. and 5 & District Lions, 2160 Hwy 1, across the province give at least 15,000 hours of time each

Most exhibitions were established between 1765 and 1927; established in 1765, the Hants County Exhibition is the oldest agricultural fair in North America. Our centuries-old history gives EANS members confidence they can adapt, and continue to celebrate agricultural and rural life across generations, contribute to our local and provincial economies, and provide public education and engagement about agriculture and sustainable food production.

Sportfishing season opens April 1

The 19th Hole

Wendy Richardson

The weather is warming up and, soon, we will be out golfing at the Greenwood Golf Club.

Club manager Ryan O'Rourke and his team have been busy over the winter season, making some changes and setting plans for the upcoming year.

The clubhouse's lounge and hallways have been given a fresh coat of paint, and the pro shop will have a new look, including a new desk, flooring and slats on the walls to display all the new garments. Everything is shaping up.

A slew of club tournament dates have already been set, starting in May. More dates will follow as details firm up. Check the bulletin boards in the hallway. For those who want to mark known events on their calendar, here is a list:

- · May 9 Greenwood Ladies' Early Bird tournament
- May 15 Greenwood Men's opening tournament
- May 16 Greenwood Ladies' 2-Ball
- May 29 to 30 Greenwood Golf Club Inaugural Mixed Scramble (four-person teams - 2 men, 2 women; members and non-members)
- June 5 Garnet Ward (two-person scramble, at Eagle Crest)
- June 19 Greenwood Men's 6x6x6
- June 20 Eagle Crest Mixed
- June 22 Greenwood Ladies Field Day
- July 1 Canada Day tournament
- July 4 Greenwood Guys and Dolls Club Mixed
- July 11 Greenwood Ladies Pres/ Vice. Pres
- July 17 to 18 Eagle Crest Men's and Ladies' club championship
- July 24 Greenwood Men's Pres/ Vice. Pres.
- July 31 to Aug. 1 Greenwood club championships
- August 21 to 22 annual Men's Shoot-out
- September 11 to 12 Greenwood Fall Ball Mixed tournament
- September 25 Oktoberfest Golf Tournament

It has been a long COVID-19 winter, and golfers are looking forward to being out on the course, hitting that little dimpled ball. COVID-19 protocols will be in place at all times.

We are looking forward to a fun season. New members are always welcome at the Greenwood course, and existing members are looking forward to reacquainting with old friends and meeting new ones.

Welcome to our friendly, social golf club! → season opens April 1, and Nova Scotians are encouraged to enjoy sportfishing on one of the province's many waterways.

'Sportfishing is very popular, can be enjoyed by all ages and helps support jobs and economic activity in our rural communities," says Fisheries and Aquaculture Minister Keith Colwell. 'By using proper catch and release techniques and limsport is sustainable into the future.'

To help curb the spread of COVID-19, anglers need to adhere to current public health guidelines. They must limit contact with other people, remain two metres (six feet) away from others, adhere to current gathering limits, and practice good hand washing and other hygiene steps. Anglers should check the latest public health iting harvest, anglers can restrictions before each

"While fishing, please remember to follow all public health measures as well as boating safety rules - use personal floatation devices and check conditions before venturing out on the water," says Colwell.

Licences may be purchased online via the Department of Fisheries and Aquaculture website at novascotia.ca/fish/sportfishing/, or in person at Forestry field offices and private vendors throughout the province.

In 2020, over 76,000 sportfishing licences were sold; the highest participation since 1985. Rules for the 2021 season are outlined in the Anglers' Handbook and Summary of Regulations, supplied to purchasers of fishing licences and is also available online. Sportfishing generates more than $66 million annually for Department of Lands and Nova Scotia's economy. >>
